Sex Is Too Important to Leave to Chance

Youth, Sexual Risk Avoidance & Life Skills Project

- ✓ Empowering Youth ... to protect their future by avoiding non-marital sexual activity.

FREE, life skills program for Youth (Gr. 6 - 12)

www.standfirmyouthhawaii.com

Youth who apply refusal skills and avoid non-marital sex ...are more likely to succeed.

- Better academic achievement
- Better earning potential / reduced poverty
- Better physical, mental & emotional health
- Better family relationship (short and long term)
- Reduced exposure to crime, sexual exploitation, & sex trafficking
- Achieve their goals!

Sex Is Too Important

Teens Agree...

- 40% report school sex ed makes them feel pressured to have sex
 - Two-thirds of sexually active teens regret & wish they had waited
 - 90% wish parents had guided them
 - 75% believe church should be more involved teaching

Testimonials

'My life has been changed by this class because now I know how to plan my life out...keep sex within the boundaries of marriage, say no to sex and stay abstinent, what to look for in a guy, and how to stay away from STD's. I also speak for my parents when I say, "thanks a million."
Female Student

'Before this class, I thought it doesn't matter when you have sex. When you came, it changed me around. Thank you for teaching the right time to have sex.'
Male Student

'Pre-marital sex is putting our students at risk for untimely pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases This program successfully provides our students with another option rather than pre-marital sex.
High School Principal

Parents - Reinforce the Message

Youth are more likely to avoid non-marital sex when they hear a consistent sexual risk avoidance message from multiple sources ... including parents, youth leaders, church, and community organizations.

BUT...

- Parents feel ill-equipped to instruct on sexuality.
